

Oakland SOL
Sustaining Ourselves Locally

The Edible Schoolyard Project and Oakland SOL invites you to apply for our collaborative

PAID Summer Youth Urban Farming Internship

Learn, connect, and resist with us this summer!

We are seeking: Energetic youth ages 14-18, who are eager to participate in a six week paid urban farming internship based at Oakland SOL and the Edible Schoolyard Project Berkeley. Interns will meet up to three days a week and the program will run from June 25th to August 10th, 2018. Interns will receive a $900 stipend upon completion of the program!

Join us for hands-on sessions in the garden, cooking classes, field trips, building projects, herbal medicine and more! We will explore and act on themes of ACCESS, YOUTH DEVELOPMENT, HEALING, AGROECOLOGY, and SOCIAL JUSTICE.

Send your completed application by email to YUFarming@gmail.com or mail/drop off in either sites mailbox Oakland SOL: 1236 23rd Ave, Oakland CA 94606 or Edible Schoolyard Project: 1781 Rose St, Berkeley, CA 94703.

Application deadline: 5/31/2018

Oakland SOL is a collective-run non-profit garden project and household based in East Oakland, CA. The Edible Schoolyard Project is a non-profit school based garden in Berkeley, CA.

Application for Summer Youth Urban Farming Internship

At Oakland SOL and The Edible Schoolyard Project Berkeley

Name:

Date:

Email:

Age:

School and Grade:

Address:

Phone #:

What do you hope to learn from this internship?

How did you hear about the internship?

Have you held an internship or job before? If so, please describe.

Help us get to know you. Describe any interests, talents, or identities that feel important to you.

What's the best fruit or vegetable, and why?

Managing school, friends, and family can be stressful at times. What's your favorite way to recharge and resist?